ORDER WAIVING DEFENDANT'S ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE WITH RESPECT TO THE INSTANT 2255 PROCEEDINGS

On July 13, 2007, defendant Ernest M. Esparza effected the pro se filing of his "Motion Under 28 U.S.C. 2255 to Vacate, Set Aside, or Correct Sentence by a Person in Federal Custody" (hereinafter "2255 petition") in the above-captioned civil case. In his 2255 petition, defendant has asserted the alleged ineffective assistance of defense counsel Arthur E. Ross, Esq., in connection with the above-captioned criminal case and ensuing direct appeal to the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

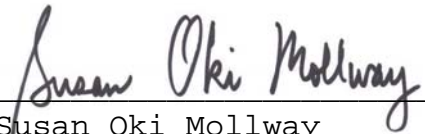

In Bittaker v. Woodford, 331 F.3d 715, 716 (9th Cir. 2003), the Ninth Circuit has held that "[i]t has long been the rule in federal courts that, where a habeas petitioner raises a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel, he waives the attorney-client privilege as to all communications with his alleged ineffective lawyer". Given defendant's ineffective assistance of counsel claims asserted against defense counsel Arthur E. Ross, Esq. in his 2255 petition, it is hereby ordered that defendant's attorney-client privilege with respect to all of the communications, both verbal and written, with said attorney, as well as the records of said attorney associated therewith, is hereby waived for the purposes of the instant case (including, but not limited to, the direct appeal thereof). Consequently, said attorney may testify (should an evidentiary hearing become necessary) and otherwise provide information concerning his communications with defendant and other information and evidence from their records to the United States and this Court in this case to resolve the aforesaid allegations in defendant's 2255 petition, and they may do so without regard to the attorney-client privilege.

However, also in accordance with Bittaker v. Woodford, any such testimony and/or other information provided by said attorneys, as well as any records which they may have in connection therewith, shall only be used by the United States

Attorney's Office for the District of Hawaii in the instant case and for no other purpose without further order from this Court.

DATED: Honolulu, Hawaii; July 27, 2007.
